1. Between 2 and 2:30 p.m., a biplane of type U-2 circled over the Neubrandenburg-Trollenhagen airfield. The weather was fair. No further air activity was observed until 7 p.m. No aircraft were seen at the field. The wings of seven jet aircraft were observed near a shed at the eastern end of the runway. Except for a guard at the western border of the installation, no soldiers were seen. A radio installation was located at the southern edge of the landing field. About 10 soldiers were observed constructing a hut on the road to Glocksau not far from the point where branches off from the Eilenfeld-Nevorin highway. [redacted] a cage antenna connected to a braced mast was seen by the side of this road. A mast about 7 meters high and fitted with rungs and a DF station with four masts were located about 50 meters and 200 meters respectively from the radio truck. Two telephone lines extended from the DF station to the airfield. A braced mast about 16 meters high and a radio truck from which two telephone lines ran toward the airfield was observed north of Louisenhof. [redacted]

- * [redacted] Comment. [redacted] the fighter regiment from Neubrandenburg moved to Pustnitz on 10 March, probably for training purposes. [redacted] the regiment is conducting firing practices at Barth airfield. The fact that the radio installations of the regiment remained in Neubrandenburg indicates that the regiment will soon return there.
